A Voice for the Return of 'Personal Freedom'

H. L. Richardson, a Republican State Senator who represents Arcadia, issues a "Special Report" covering issues of the day, his own philosophy, and matters that concern his constituency in the area above Los Angeles.

His current report is particularly appropriate at this point in time where our national leaders—and their underlings—have created a wide gap of disbelief between themselves and the citizenry.

Richardson says his greatest concern is the loss of personal freedom of the individual. Evangelical social souls in government are hell-bent on equalizing everyone and everything, he says.

"While most Americans are busy minding their own business, egalitarian (those who would equalize all social, economic and political rights) hot-shots have been gaining control of the political store," he avers.

"In the name of equal rights and citizen protection, a wealth of laws have been imposed upon the individual American, regulating, adjusting and taxing to a point of outright confiscation. Laws need implementers and we have bureaus filled with 'crats,' he says.

"A typical working man in California pays about $3,600 to the federal, $1,050 to the state, and about $1,000 to the city and County governments," he said. That represents a $5,650 loss in economic freedom and a $5,650 gain in governmental control.

"We're losing our personal freedom!"

"We are not losing it to some external force. We are the culprit as well as the victim. We have been gumming ourselves to death by slowly changing our form of government. Instead of expanding freedom, we are contracting it in the name of security and safety!"

"Somewhere along the line, Americans were sold on the idea that Utopia was possible if we used the structure of our government as the vehicle to solve our remaining social problems—a structure that was never intended to be used for the purpose. Our representative democratic process was set up to protect the freedom of each individual American so that he could 'pursue happiness,' not be guaranteed it.

In this restricted sense the job of the legislature was a simple one, needing only a citizen legislator—his job primarily to establish laws to capture and punish the guilty citizens, who by force or guile inhibited the freedoms of the innocent. We literally had almost no government at all.

"Will Rogers summed it all up when commenting on Calvin Coolidge's record. He said 'We put him into office and he has done absolutely nothing. But that is OK. That the the reason we put him there.'

"That homey comment captured the spirit of the successful American system. It brings to mind the idea of politicians who do nothing and individual citizens who have the ability to do a lot.

"Because we had so little government in our individual lives we grew to trust what little government we had. Generations of Americans grew to have faith in our government and had good reason. Never had mankind witnessed such material, spiritual and personal freedom!"

"America became the beckoning light to the freedom loving throughout the world. They clamored to get in and were thankful when they made it.

"Freedom works! And freedom is the ingredient that holds our country together. But we must stop asking our legislators to be the redistributors of our personal wealth and get them back to protecting the property of each individual citizen, and when the legislature once again accepts that task, then we are going to restrict the nature and structure of our government to where personal freedom will once again reign.

"When we took that redistributive course, we detoured from the pathway established by our founders. We took a structure of laws designed to protect the individual from government and perverted it into a bureaucratic monstrosity that forces subservience to government. Most of our present day problems are related directly to the increase in size and scope of our bureaucracy. Once we close it down to its proper size most of our problems we have with government are going to diminish.

"There is nothing wrong with this country that a little personal freedom won't cure," Richardson says.

And oil firms are reporting record profits since the crunch was announced earlier this year.

Anxious Reader:

You may be right.

Phillips Petroleum Co. is the latest oil firm to admit illegal contributions to President Nixon's campaign fund in 1972.

It has not been proved up to now that the administration has given such firms a free hand in production controls and prices—but it certainly looks that way.

Your theory has merit. Corporations are not emotional. They don't care who is President of the U.S. They do care about profits. It is unlikely that Phillips, or any other oil producer made huge contributions just because they liked Dick Nixon. Actually, not many firms do like him. All firms do like profits, however.

Shed, Tree Damaged

The Spring Valley Fire Department, for the week of Dec. 3-10, responded to nine fire call and ten ambulance calls.

On Dec. 8, at 6:02 a.m., firemen responded to a call to the B. H. Johnson home, 2637 Helix st. It seems a fire started in an old shed adjacent to the house, and the flames spread to an orange tree. The shed was totally destroyed, and the tree damaged in the amount of $150.

On Dec. 9, at 12:20 a.m., firemen were called to the R. C. Dickerson home, at 3437 Fairway dr., Brookside (La Mesa). It was determined that a towel in the bathroom caught fire from a heater, which caused about $200 to the structure and $50 to the contents.

On Dec. 6 the ambulance was summoned to San Francisco and Conception sts., to a car accident. One person was injured and taken to Kaiser Hospital. She was Mrs. Judith Krug, 32, of 522 Sacramento st., Spring Valley.

Dec. 8 the ambulance went to the 8800 block Campo rd., where Mary Bruch, 22, of 6472 Boulder Lake dr., San Diego, was injured in a car accident. She was taken to Kaiser Hospital.

Anne Mendez Named To HRC Board

Anne Mendez, a Lemon Grove resident, is among 17 commissioners elected to the governing board of the San Diego Human Relations Commission.

The elections took place at the monthly meeting of the HRC, the 48-member governmental body charged with the work of promoting respect and understanding among the various ethnic groups in the community.

In a related action, Dr. Edward M. Webb, chairman, and Hope Logan, vice chairman, were elected to serve a second 1-year term in their respective posts.

Subject to formal confirmation by the Board of Supervisors, new commissioners are: Jose Diaz, Roy Cazares, Louise Tanneheimer, rabbi Morton Cohn, June Acon, Bob Matthews, and Rachel Ortiz, all borders on San Altos School of San Diego. Others included William Molina of La Mesa, Larry Blacktooth of Escondido, and Anne Mendez of Lemon Grove.

Ms. Mendez has been a resident of the Lemon Grove area for three years and presently lives at 1839 Costada ct. A secretary in the University Avenue office of the Social Security Administration, she is actively involved with such organizations as CURE, the Sierra Club and the YWCA.

Drainage Problems Worry School Board

Subdivisions in general and day.

Madera Terraces in particular caught the attention of the Board member John Linn asked the administrators to get an opinion from county counsel on the legality of appealing the decision to the supervisors.

Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton told board members that a drainage ditch behind San Altos school, already affected by drainage from one subdivision, will be doubly affected provided Madera Terraces is completed.

"We built the school and took care of our own drainage," he said, "and then the subdivision came in and made a running, smelly ditch out of a dry ditch."

Sutton said he and Paul Reynolds, assistant superintendent, have held conferences with Madera Terraces engineer Robert Burkett, who did offer to provide an engineering plan for the ditch, which is wholly owned by the school district.

Covering the ditch with gunite, to facilitate water flow to sewer lines, would cost about $12 a foot for 1,000 feet, Reynolds said. The subdividers are attempting to secure a "hold harmless" agreement from the district, an attempt that has been rejected.

"We were told," Sutton said, "that we have no recourse to the supervisors" following planning commission approval of a tentative subdivision map for Madera Terraces last Friday.

Planners 'Ignore' Objectors, Approve LG Subdivision Map

Irate Lemon Grove citizens charged the county planning commission with "complete disregard" of their protests last week when a tentative subdivision map was unanimously approved for Madera Terraces.

According to Judith Scheider, of 1807 Dartmoor, who appeared in opposition to the subdivision, members of the staff and the commission virtually ignored their protests and a petition which contained the names of 36 residents of the affected area, which borders on San Altos School property.

In addition to a drainage ditch which borders the school and was the subject of protests by Lemon Grove School Superintendent Dr. Robert Sutton and his assistant, Paul Reynolds, the petitioners objected to air and noise pollution and school problems, Mrs. Scheider said.

"It seemed like we were ignored," she said, "every time we got up to speak. The subject was changed to drainage, and our other objections were lightly brushed off."

Mrs. Scheider also said the commission chairman told the group there would be "no appeal" from the decision granting the developer, V. T. Wigglesworth, his tentative map.

Jerry Nowak, county flood control engineer, said generalities were being considered with the tentative map and that if drainage problems are not taken care of, the final map can be disapproved.

Reynolds said the drainage ditch is a constant source of trouble to the school district, since the side adjacent to the school is lower and silt flows onto a basketball court on the school playground.

The proposed subdivision is located on Madera Street between Ramon and Massachusetts, and will have 53 units with a club.

In addition to Mrs. Scheider, objectors included her neighbor, Charles Williams, 1827 Dartmoor, she said, and a group of Berry Street residents.

Valle de Oro Planners Hear Dick Brown

Supervisor Dick Brown last night explained changes in county planning that will affect Valle de Oro planning association in the future.

Brown spoke to executive committee members in Room 1002 at Monte Vista High School.

Next week's edition will carry a full report of the supervisor's appearance at the meeting.

Changes Voted For Community Planners

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — It cost a million and a half dollars over five years and produced only two community programs — so the Board of Supervisors voted 4-1 to change the format of the county's community planning program.

It will now be the Community Resource Program but supervisors are dropping the idea of being guided by a single group.

The two plans completed are those of Poway and Rainbow.

The Lemon Grove program will be continued, supervisors decided.

Eliot Beddoe Services Held

Funeral services were held Monday for Eliot Beddoe, 82, of Lemon Grove, who died Wednesday at the San Diego Convalescent hospital where he had lived for the past eight years.

Beddoe came to San Diego from New York in 1906 and was associated with Marston's Department Store for more than 30 years. He then served at Whitney's Department Store for 25 years before retiring in 1963.

He was able to enjoy his retirement for but a few years before entering the convalescent facility.

There he gained a reputation as being a gruff, cigar-smoking patient, who won the hearts of all the patients who lived there.

Most of the patients considered him a member of their family because of his concern and generosity. He was noted among his lady friends for sending them his favorite flower—yellow roses.

Until he lost his legs to surgery, he played golf frequently with his therapists.

He was a worthy antagonist who had a record of several holes-in-one prior to his hospitalization.

On his 82nd birthday—October 14 — surgery was performed on him for the last time. By then he was a wheel chair patient who attended classes at Helix High school learning to play wheel chair games.

Most of the "young" patients called him "grandpop." His passing brought sadness to the remaining patients at the hospital according to Mrs. Catherine Menzer, deputy administrator at the convalescent center.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Randolph Morse, a well-known clubwoman of Lemon Grove, and his daughter, Pamela Beddoe, of Alameda, Calif. Beddoe's father, deceased, was a Fellow of the Royal Geographic Society of England (FRGS).

Services were held at Conrad Lemon Grove Mortuary followed by cremation and interment at Cypress View Mausoleum.

Relief 'Possible' For Merchants On Broadway

Some relief was seen possible for that "hemmed in feeling" merchants in Lemon Grove are experiencing these days.

New traffic control curbs and a center median installed from Olive to Kepmf streets on Broadway last month by the county road department has created traffic problems which the Chamber of Commerce, called a merchants' meeting and explained to them that the county had indicated that relief would be available by making three more openings in the traffic control curbs.

The promise of relief came when Del Lake, president of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, called a merchants' meeting and explained to them that the county had indicated that relief would be available by making three more openings in the traffic control curbs.

He reported that Al Boggs, county deputy of engineering services, had agreed to additional openings just hours before the 7:30 p.m. meeting at Golden Avenue School auditorium.

Two new openings would be made on the south side of Broadway; one on the north. The new installation, just being completed, was paid for by state-federal gasoline tax funds, together with a share of county money. The new design was created to relieve the heavy accident-incidence rate in Lemon Grove's business center. The area between Olive and Main streets had been designated as the most accident-prone strip in the county.

Lake appointed a committee to ascertain the type of plan that should be installed on Broadway. County representatives have indicated that they would remove the new installation if agreement could be reached on a plan the majority of the property owners approve under a county service district act.

Another meeting is planned as soon as the committee has enough information to make a report.

Property owners and merchants are urged to write suggestions and deliver them to the Chamber office for committee consideration. The office, at 3415 Imperial, is open 9-2 daily.

On the committee are Jim Dorman, chairman; Bob Russell, co-chairman; Helen Myers, secretary, and Bob Guest, Larry Scott, M. J. Kahan, Dick Leight, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Lervill, John Johnson, Andy Kerr, and Lillian Kerr.

The Crocker National Bank, at the corner of Broadway and Grove, said Wednesday that they were willing to consider tailoring their property to meet the specifications of the rest of the thoroughfare.

Pinto Drawing Slated Friday

A 1974 Pinto will be awarded to the winner of a drawing at Mt. Miguel High School Friday night, during half time of the Matador-Hilltop basketball game.

Dr. Frank B. Gigliotti will draw the winning ticket in a fund raising drive conducted by backers of an aquatic center at the school. The campaign netted $1,000 after purchase of the car, it was announced.

Thieves Prowl M. V. High

Petty thieves last week stole money from two gym lockers and a teacher's purse at Monte Vista High School, according to reports on file at the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station.

Teacher Genevieve Reuf reported the loss of $10 from her purse, which was kept in a classroom lectern, while two students said their gym lockers were entered while they were on the athletic field. $19 and a motorcycle key were reported missing.

Dear Editor:

We are pleased with the telephone advisory service that the Air Pollution Control Service offers. However, we would like to see some changes in the format. We think these changes will improve the service, and make it even more informative to the people who live in this area. Specifically, we would like to have the following information included in the report:

- The highest oxidant reading for the day of any of the APCS stations, and the name of the location at which it occurs.
- The oxidant reading and location of all stations at which the federal air quality standard of .08 ppm (1 hour) is exceeded.
- Readings should be converted to parts per hundred million. This would provide whole numbers for easier citizen recognition. (i.e. .08 ppm = 8 pphm)

Of these, A and C would always be given, and B would be given when applicable.

Sincerely,

Leonard Thomas

Dr. Merrill Cahn

Podiatrist Opens Office In Casa de Oro

Dr. Merrill Cahn, podiatrist, has opened offices in the Casa de Oro Professional Plaza, at 9628 Campo rd., Spring Valley.

He is the first foot doctor to open offices in the Spring Valley - Lemon Grove area. Lack of a podiatrist in the area was a key factor in Dr. Cahn's decision to locate here.

A native of Detroit, Dr. Cahn matriculated at Wayne State University in that mid-west city, received his medical training at the Ohio College of Podiatric Medicine and completed a surgical internship at Grand Community Hospital, Detroit.

After a short period of medical practice in Detroit, he and Mrs. Cahn decided to move to better surroundings. A four-month tour of the U. S. made them decide on Spring Valley, and, in the words of Mrs. Cahn, "once we got here, we just loved it. We went back to Detroit, packed our belongings and our dog and came right back here to stay."

Trees, Plants, To Grace 805

Highway planting will be done along slopes of the Interstate 805 Freeway in San Diego, according to bids called by the California Department of Transportation.

Planting will consist of 1,270 trees (primarily two varieties of eucalyptus), 2,154 acacia shrubs, and 257,000 ground cover plants. Work limits extend from Friars rd. to 0.3-mile south of Route 163, a distance of nearly two miles.

Bids will be opened January 10 in Los Angeles. Approximately $419,000 is available for the project, which will harmonize the freeway with surrounding residential communities.

Cost of Living Increase Granted To Aged, Blind

Health and Welfare Secretary Earl Brian has announced a $3.6 million-a-month cost-of-living increase package for California's 500,000 aged, blind and disabled welfare recipients.

Brian said the increases are $7 a month for persons in the Old Age Security (OAS) and Aid to the Disabled (ATD) programs, and $9 a month for those receiving Aid to the Blind (AB).

The increases are based on the Consumer Price Index for June 1973, and range $2 to $4 higher than the similar cost-of-living increase granted a year ago.

The $3.6 million monthly total consists of $1.8 million in federal funds, $1.4 million in state funds, and $400,000 in county monies.

Brian pointed out that the increase in grants is the fourth for those in adult aid programs since October 1972. Previous increases were $12 a month in October 1972, in a pass-on of state welfare savings realized from increased Social Security payments; a $5 a month cost-of-living increase to OAS and AB recipients and $4 a month to ATD recipients in December 1972; and a legislative increase of $2 a month in June 1973, provided to assure that recipients were not adversely affected by property and sales tax shifts which went into effect at that time.

The June increase remains in effect despite the fact that the sales tax increase was suspended until April 1, 1974, Brian noted.

Brian also stated that this latest cost-of-living increase is not an issue in the current legal and legislative controversy over adult aid programs. He said the increase becomes a permanent part of the basic monthly grant.

San Diego's Fast Growth Rate To Continue Says Economist

San Diego County will continue to be one of California's fastest growing areas in 1974, according to United California Bank's (UCB) 11th annual economic forecast presented last week.

Dr. Raymond Jallow, the bank's senior vice president and chief economist said population, employment, and personal income all will be on the rise in the coming year.

San Diego County will be the only metropolitan area in California to register an increase in new residential construction, he said. Sixteen percent of California's total population growth in 1974 will take place in San Diego County, with 36,000 new residents expected to bring the year-end total to 1,538,000.

San Diego was the only metropolitan area to benefit from the cutback in military bases in 1973, the forecast states, pointing out that the county was a focal point for base consolidations and there was little change in military employment.

9,000 New Jobs
Civilian employment will be on the increase in 1974, with the addition of 9,000 new jobs for a yearly average of 502,000 workers. Expansion of the tourist industry will account for most of the upswing, while the trade and services sectors will add about 8,000 new jobs.

Virtually all employment growth in manufacturing will take place outside of the aerospace industry. The only soft spot in the county's employment picture will be in the agricultural sector, which will decline, primarily because of continuing loss of farm acreage to urbanization.

Personal income will rise substantially during the coming year, with a $603 million increase bringing the total to $7.81 billion. Median family income will also move upward by $727 to $13,260.

Among those benefitting from the favorable population and employment picture will be the county's merchants, who will record a gain of $300 million for a year-end retail sales total of $3.95 billion. An above-average year is anticipated for department and dry goods stores and food markets, and the fact that no major new stores are scheduled to open in the county during 1974 gives the merchants cause for added optimism.

Jallow tempered his prognostications by pointing out the continued embargo on Mid-East oil would bring about a severe recession.

Teen Ager Pageant Open to All

All girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are invited to join the 1974 Miss California Teen Ager pageant, officials of the event have announced.

Judging is based on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance. There is no talent or swimsuit competition.

In state competition, scholarships totaling $2,000 will be awarded. The state winner also receives a six day all expense paid trip to Atlanta to compete for the national title.

The state winner will be decided June 28 and 29 in Anaheim.

To date, some 45 girls have entered the contest, only one of them from San Diego County. Applications may be secured by writing National Teen Ager Pageant, Box 406, Rockton, Ill., 61072.

Howard and Marian Cleff

How Master Charge brought Christmas to the Cleff house 22 days early.

"Like everybody else, I usually wait till the last minute to take care of my Christmas shopping. Of course, when you do that, you take what you can get at any price. I decided this year was going to be different.

"So we did all our shopping early with our Security Pacific Bank Check and Charge Card, and got some really good buys. By December 3, practically all our shopping was done. If you don't think that's something special, you've never been in a store at 9 P.M. the night before Christmas."

Thank you, Mr. Cleff.
Howard and Marian Cleff have been with Security Pacific Bank since before David (7) and Marilyn (10) were born. They're on their 6th car loan with us. Obviously, we think they're something special too.

Winter Water Storage May Bring Lower Summer Prices

San Diego County Water Authority's Water Problems Authority member agencies and Policy Committee under may pay more for imported water in summer than in winter under a plan now under consideration by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

The 22 Authority members have been asked to comment on the plan by today, the day on which the Authority is expected to formulate its policy concerning MWD's proposed seasonal rates.

Purpose of the proposal is to encourage distribution agencies to store more water during winter when aqueducts are used well below capacity. By so doing, there would be greater capacity available during summer.

Comments concerning the plan will be considered by the

Millionth Volume

A major milestone in the development of the University Libraries at the University of California, San Diego—the acquisition of the one-millionth volume — was celebrated at 4 p.m. Sunday, December 9, during a ceremony in the lobby of the Central University Library on the campus.

Shamu Off To Florida Sea World

Shamu, the killer whale, led by eight tiny dolphins will arrive in the new Sea World of Florida Sunday afternoon just in time to entertain thousands of fans for Christmas.

The two-ton killer whale, with his entourage of 25 marine mammals, two chimpanzees and 67 birds will board the 707 American Airlines jet freighter at Lindbergh Field at 6 a.m. Sunday bound for Sea World of Florida, the third and largest Sea World park near Orlando.

The flight marks the final shipment of animals and equipment to Florida prior to its gala opening next Saturday. An "Astro Ark" was sent to the new park last month from Sea World of Ohio, after the close of its season there.

The $20 million attraction, located six minutes from Disney World, is Sea World's third and largest marine park and its second year-round operation. Sea World Ohio, near Cleveland, is open from May to September each year.

The new Sea World, which sprawls over 125 tropical acres, will feature Shamu, the two-ton killer whale as the star of his own show, dolphins who match wits with humans, sea lions performing as vaudeville stars, and an elephant seal who plays guitar in his own "Saltwater Revival Band." The shows seen in the new park have been trained during the fall months at Sea Worlds in San Diego and Ohio.

The Mothers March on birth defects takes place each January, when thousands of volunteers ask their neighbors for contributions to the March of Dimes.

Korean Vets Educational Eligibility Due to End

The period of eligibility for education benefits is nearly ended for post-Korean veterans, advises Gordon R. Elliott, Director of the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Regional Office.

He explained that post-Korean veterans are men and women who served in the armed forces during the period February 1, 1955 through May 31, 1966. The standard eligibility period for G.I. Bill training is eight years after separation from military service, but post-Korean veterans were not eligible for benefits until June 1966 when the current bill became effective. As a result, said Elliott, the eight-year period for this group of veterans expires May 31, 1974.

Local Schools See Ballet

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley elementary schools which are interested in the ballet can, for a reduced fee, engage the California Ballet Company to perform in their school auditorium.

The latest such school to do so was Kempton Elementary, where the company's condensed version of Coppelius and excerpts from the Nutcracker were danced.

The program has been in existence for the last five years, during which 140,000 San Diego County students have seen the ballet.

A grant from the National Endowment for the Arts makes such presentations possible, according to Robert Mahon, general director of the company. Normal fees for such programs are $136, but the company charges schools half that amount.

for most G.I. Bill educational training.

Additional educational benefits were added to the current bill in 1967 and these benefits will not run out until 1975. They include farm cooperative training, apprenticeship or on-the-job training and advanced flight training. Flight training courses are restricted to veterans who plan a career in aviation.

Applicants for flight training must have a valid private pilot's license and meet medical requirements for a commercial pilot's license, Elliott said.

To date, only 34 percent of post-Korean veterans have used their benefits, Elliott noted, but this is primarily because there was no G.I. Bill when this group left service. In comparison, 47 percent of service men and women separated after its enactment used benefits from the current bill.

Elliott suggested other reasons why post-Korean veterans haven't used their entitlements. Many have been out of service for nearly eleven years before the current bill was enacted and by that time family and other responsibilities made it impossible for them to return to school. Age also deterred some of those veterans. They would be in classes with students 15 years their junior.

Kempton Yule Program Split This Year

Kempton Elementary School's Christmas program will be presented in two parts this year, the school has announced.

Part one, tonight at 7:30 in the school auditorium, grades one, two and three will present "Christmas Stories," directed by Mrs. Barbara Stilwell.

One week from tonight, intermediate students will present "The Christmas Snow Man," to be directed by Robert Williams and Mrs. Ann Maynihan.

The intermediate choir will sing traditional Yuletide selections, such as "White Christmas," "Jingle Bells" and "Jolly Old St. Nick," as well as original and unusual music. The choir will be conducted by Douglas Lane and accompanied by Mrs. Maxine Holtman.

Rockhounds Bid To Date Festival

Rockhounds are invited to exhibit in the Minerals and Mining department of the coming 1974 National Date Festival, Feb. 15-24, at Indio. This will be the festival's big Gem and Mineral Show, long considered one of the finest in the nation.

Californians are especially invited to enter the exhibit competition and compete for the $2,258 offered in cash premium awards, plus trophies.

The open exhibit division, designed for the advanced collector, is open to any exhibitor in the world, including amateurs.

The show's amateur division is limited to residents of California.

Chevy Names Snary

Snary has appeared on the Steve Allen, Lawrence Welk and Red Skelton television shows and has hosted the Miss America Pageant and the International Fashion Festival.

He will appear on Chevrolet commercials, host the dealers' special events and serve in public relations activities.

Stock Lake Jennings, Fishing Season Opens

Relaxation of the California Department of Fish and Game's prohibition of imported trout which may have been exposed to IPN, a fish virus, will permit opening of Lake Jennings this Saturday, it was announced last week by Helix Water District.

A 3500 lb. planing of trout from an Idaho hatchery is scheduled for Thursday, according to Al Grosse, administrative assistant to the Helix general manager.

New rates for fishing permits will be in effect this year because of the higher price for fish, Grosse said. Rates for adults (16 years or older) will be $2.50 per day, with a five-trout per person per day limit. Children's rate (for those 8 through 15 years) remains at $1.00. Children under 8 years of age will be admitted free, but any fish they catch must be charged against an adult permit.

Limits for fish other than trout are those established by the Department of Fish and Game. Lake Jennings will be open for fishing on Saturdays, Sundays, Mondays and legal holidays from 5:30 a.m. to one-half hour after sunset. The lake will not be open Christmas day.

IPN, a virus infection which affects only fingerling fish, is not harmful to adult fish or humans. Efforts to eradicate the disease in hatcheries has led to a shortage of trout for planting.

Helix Water District delayed opening of Lake Jennings from its usual first weekend of November date until an adequate and continuous supply of fish could be assured.

Chargers Wrap-up Comes Sunday On the Chill Turf at Kansas City

And they ride off slowly toward the sunset with an uncertain fate waiting over the horizon.

They're the Chargers. The ride has been long and dreary. And their fate? Who's asking?

The ride ends in Kansas City Sunday at 11 a.m. (PST) The locale is Arrowhead Stadium — probably the only major stadium in the world to have opened to a full house without any of the stadium's toilets in operation. Lest there are any readers who worry about such things, it should be reported that the lavatories now a year later, are now fully functional.

Kansas City leads in the ongoing series 14-12-1. The Chiefs won 19-0 earlier this year in San Diego. Without useable plumbing, the Chargers were winners 27-17 against the Chiefs last year in Arrowhead Stadium.

Hank Stram's team has already blown it. They are out of the championship battle. Now they will fight to finish above .500. The Chargers will be battling to win their third game of the season.

The Chargers lost to the Denver Broncos Sunday at San Diego Stadium, 42-28 with 44,954 fans watching. Just a trifle over 3,000 ticket holders didn't show up. The game was a disappointment to Coach Ron Waller although one of his razzle-dazzle plans paid off.

Hoop Tourney Hosted by USD

Four evenly-matched teams, each capable of taking top honors, collide this weekend in the U. of SD Invitational Basketball tournament.

Besides the host USD squad, U.S. International U., UC San Diego, and Cal. State Stanislaus will also compete in the Friday-Saturday activity in the USD gym.

Friday pairings list USIU meeting Stanislaus State at 7 p.m. and USD going against UC SD at 9 p.m.

Saturday's action includes a 7 p.m. consolation between the two Friday losers and a 9 p.m. championship affair.

Going strictly on the season records, UCSD rates a slight favorite's role. The Tritons are undefeated in four appearances and captured the recent USIU classic.

Following this week's tourney, the Toreros take a two weeks vacation until December 28.

with a touchdown. An aftergame poll of some of the players indicated that they were high on Waller. One said that the team had been trying to win that one for Waller. It has been a long time since that kind of talk in the locker room.

'Socks' Needed At Children's Health Center

Spirits will be dim at Children's Hospital if an energy crisis isn't soon met.

No, there's enough light, enough heat — what Children's needs is — Club Power!

"Socks," little hand puppets, made from a child's sock, which befriends each young patient at Children's, are in short supply. And the supply is dwindling fast.

The Children's Health Center Women's Auxiliary is seeking adult groups and individuals to make Socks.

"It's a simple process, which is fun to do," Mrs. John Holl, Volunteer Socky Chairman, said.

The basic materials — socks, instructions and a cellophane bag for holding the finished product — are provided by the Women's Auxiliary. Scrap material, felt and yarn for the face, mouth and hair are provided by those who make Socky.

"Children's uses 250 Sockys a month, over 3,000 a year. Because our backlog has been depleted, we only have a supply to last through January," Mrs. Holl said.

Those organizations already on the Socky production line are: the Florence Rifford Senior Club; Thursday Club; Jambucha Community Women's Club; Kiwanians of National City; University Heights Mother's Club; and Vari-Crafters.

Park Permits Now Available

Annual day-use and boat-launching permits for most units of the State Park System are now available for 1974, according to the California Department of Parks and Recreation.

The day-use permits and the boat-launching permits each sell for $10 and can be used for the rest of 1973 as well as all of 1974.

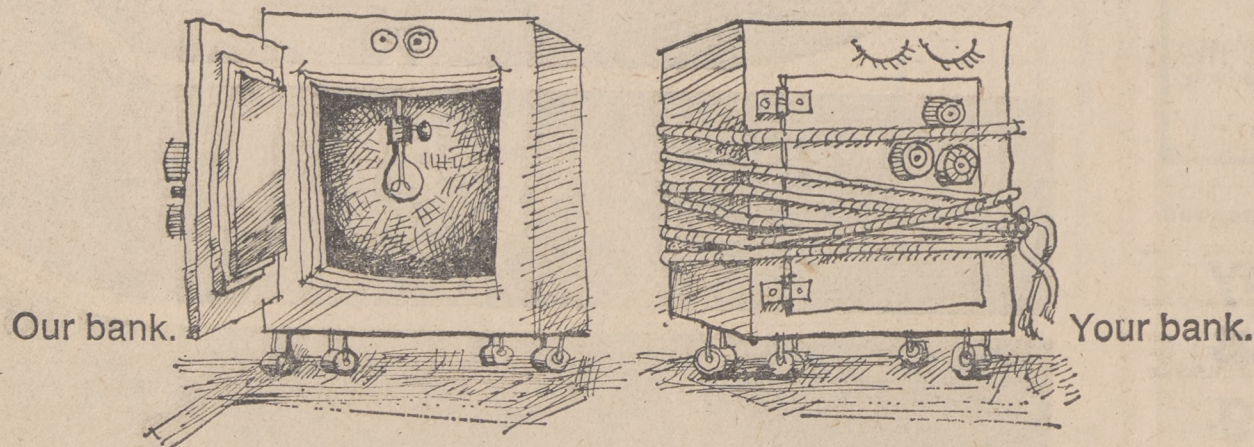

The day-use permit may be used at any time in place of the regular daily $1 parking and day-use fee or 25-cent walk-in fee at state-operated parks and at some state parks operated by a concessioner. It cannot be used, however, at any state parks operated by a governmental agency other than the state, or at state historical parks, monuments or museums where a separate entrance or tour fee is charged.

The boat-launching permit may be used anytime at any state park boat-launching facility in lieu of the regular $1 boat-launching fee. This includes boat-launching facilities operated by concessioners.

TAKE FIVE

By John E. Wirges

This is the saga of Mark Dilley, who, like the Mark named Twain, reports that the rumor of his death has been greatly exaggerated.

Dilley's real front handle is Ans (no kiddin'). He is the current public relations expert and resident genius of the San Diego Conquistadors.

You might have missed it last week, but a story had Ans resigning his position effective with the new year.

Ans says he quit, but that he really didn't mean it that way. His problem is Wilt Chamberlain, a man who has spent most of his adult life making problems of another sort for the colorful underwear set.

Wilt is the coach of the team Dilley is beating the tub for. And anybody who beats the drum for a team with a name like "Conquistadors" is worthy of consideration from old ladies, boy scouts and team leaders.

The trouble is that Wilt and his home media crowd ain't the best of friends. And Wilt blames Dilley.

The whole shebang belongs to Dr. Leonard Bloom, and one would think he would be interested in getting all the parties together and chewing the fat until everybody's pulling the same way in his hoop harness.

But the good Dr. Bloom has other problems. He is the owner and chief pay clerk of the L.A. Sharks of the World Hockey Assn., but he tries to keep that a secret. He is a planner of buildings, shopping centers and arenas, but they don't always get off the ground. He is a deep thinker and a positive doer. And he is a fan of both his basketball team and his coach.

As any fool can plainly see, he is a busy man.

Too Busy

Unfortunately, he has been too busy to soothe the rumbles of discord emanating from his basketball interests.

Wilt Chamberlain is great copy on the road, but he does poor mouth San Diego and that ain't in the best interests of all around. The "Q's" are winning and a great deal of it is his fault.

"He's a great coach," says Dilley. "He's got three rookies playing like veterans. He reaches his kids. They believe in him. He's a master at using his bench. With any luck he could be Coach of the Year, and he'd deserve it."

That doesn't sound like talk from a guy that can't get along with his coach.

"It isn't that," says Dilley. "I respect Wilt and I like him. He's doing a great job. But the small crowds or whatever have made him cool to those at home. And I'd like to fix it, but I don't know what it's all about."

Dilley is like the man who gets the job done, or gets a bigger hammer. In order to bring about a general meeting with his coach, general manager, owner and their press advisor, he offered to resign.

"I really don't want to go, but I want them to know how important it is to me, professionally, and how important it is to them. We've got to get our heads together and get the job done."

The word wasn't supposed to get out. But Dilley sometimes thinks out loud and there's always someone around to pick up on things like that.

Anyway there it is, Ans Dilley made a big move and now finds himself quitting, even against his own best interests.

He has more in common with Mark Twain than you'd think. Sam L. Clements picked up his pen-name from a river boatman's call. It was used when sounding the bottom. Mark Twain means deep water, and that's where Ans Dilley finds himself these days.

And you thought basketball folks never got serious.

Monarchs Win Two Easily

Monte Vista showed it will be a team in contention for the Grossmont League basketball championship following two convincing non-league wins last week. The Monarchs ripped Madison, 72-57, and clobbered Castle Park, 77-54.

In their romp over Madison, guard Richard Ridgway led a scoring assault that found four Monarchs in double figures, hitting for 21 points. Morgan Krehbiel (16), Bill Bunting (14), and Fred Factuar (10) joined Ridgway in double markers.

The Monarchs held a 37-29 halftime lead and put the game on ice in the third period, outscoring the Warhawks, 23-10 for a 60-41 lead entering the fourth period, in which they were outscored, 16-12.

Ridgway again paced the Monarch scoring against Castle Park last Friday night. The red-hot guard split the nets for 25 points to lead another four-man double figure parade. He was joined by Bunting (17), Krehbiel (15), and Scott Overlund (12). Overlund reported late for the team following action with the school's football team.

The Monarchs got off to a fast start against the Trojans, posting a 35-24 halftime lead. They continued to dominate play in the second half with 20 and 22 points in the third and fourth periods, while holding the Trojans to 16 and 14 respectively.

The Monarchs travel to Crawford Friday night before participating in the Kiwanis Tourney.

Aztec Capers Near End of Road Trip

S.D. State U. basketball road show continues this week.

Tonight the Aztecs are in Tulsa to play Oral Roberts U. and Saturday State meets U. of Colorado in Boulder. The road games come on the heels of a pair of road games last week in the Creighton tournament in Omaha.

In the tournament the Aztecs finished third by losing to Oklahoma in the opening round 92-57 and beating Air Force 87-68. The games were the season openers for San Diego.

Oral Roberts has several people back from a team that was 21-6 last season and topped San Diego 87-75 in the Sports Arena.

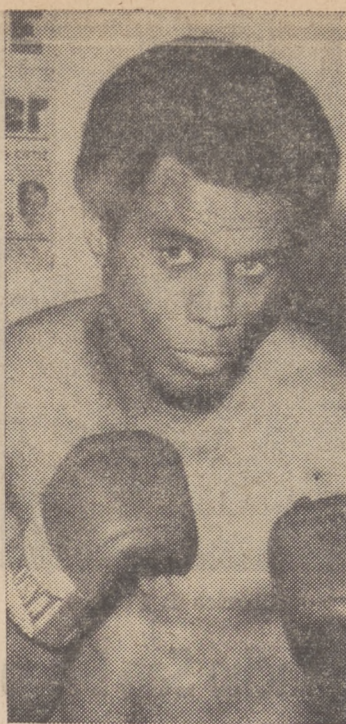

Colorado lost to the Aztecs 65-60 last year in Peterson gym but the Buffalos have already demonstrated that they are better than last year's 13-13 team with an upset win over Long Beach last week.

The Aztecs open the home season December 21, hosting nationally rated Kansas State in the Sports Arena.

Silver City

Wallace, Idaho, is known as the "Silver Capital of the World."

An abnormal number of the traffic accidents that occurred in California during early November were induced by wet weather when a dangerous road action called hydroplaning—riding on water—caused loss of tire traction on wet highways, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Another Slugfest Seen In Love-Garcia Bout

A rematch of the two slug-fest middleweights who stood toe-to-toe for ten rounds in a memorable battle last month in the Coliseum at 14th and E. streets in San Diego, has been carded for Friday at the same locale. It is likely to be another slugfest.

David Love, a likeable, intelligent boxer, who brought considerable fight prominence to San Diego with his fistic ability, will again meet Renato Garcia, who gained a split decision over him three weeks ago.

Garcia, a native of Santiago, Chile, told Sportscasters-Sportswriters Association Monday that the fight was so close that he thought fans ought to see a replay.

Love was going great until he went to Santa Rosa in October and was there k.o'd by middleweight state champion George Cooper. He took the fight against the advice of local advisors. Now he is 21-5, with a Santa Rosa ko on his record.

Ironically, it was the seventh round that beat him in the Garcia fight—he was decked twice—and he suffered his first ko in the seventh round of the Cooper battle.

Love is Popular

Love is an immensely popular fighter here. About 2,000 fans attended his last scrap. It is anticipated that the house (3,300) will sell out Friday.

Love was ahead on points for six rounds when he suffered the unpleasantness of being floored twice. He also took the eighth, ninth and tenth rounds. Two officials gave the win to Garcia by 6-5 scores while the third vote called it a 5-5 draw. The knockdowns made the difference.

'The Boomer' Adds Excitement To Conquistadors Hoop Play

Around the ABA they're pro, "if we get things going calling him The Boomer!" much of the credit will go to Tim Bassett, the Q's 6:8 Tim. He has an excellent muscle man with the face of an altar boy and the personality of a celebrity, has finally come around.

After an abysmal start caused by illness (which negated his entire training camp) The Boomer has jumped into the thick of the running for Rookie of the Year honors in the ABA.

"There's no doubt about it," says Q's Assistant Coach, Stan Albeck, who scouted Tim through his who has opened the eyes of early days of confusion as a observers with stellar efforts despite being hampered by two separate nose breaks and a fractured wrist.

Bassett's fine performance has been the icing on the cake for Wilt Chamberlain whose young Q's need only a short winning skein to jump into the thick of the Western Division race in the ABA.

Success Not Surprising

The Boomer's success comes as no surprise to Kentucky Colonels Coach, Babe McCarthy who took over the Georgia U. coaching reins prior to joining the Colonels.

"They had nothing but praise for Tim Bassett down in Georgia," said Babe. "They told him his job was getting the ball off the boards and that's what he concentrated on."

"They didn't use me much as a scorer in college," said Bassett, "but when I played in the Rucker League in New York this summer, it gave me a chance to be a more rounded player." "...besides, I always thought I was a better shooter than they gave me credit for being."

Bassett is a left hander with a fair shot from 12-15 foot range, but usually picks his spots to go for the percentage shot ... that Boomer Slam Dunk.

"I always felt they handicapped the college game by taking out the dunk. I got back in stride playing this summer and now...here in the ABA...that's my thing."

Quick as a cat for such a big man, Bassett cuts his own avenue to the basket and there aren't too many forwards in the league who care to contest him for the air space to the basket.

"He uses his feet and his body well underneath," notes Wilt, "and has a good sense of position...and he seems to like going to the hoop, which is always the mark of a good forward."

Belander Sparks Sonoma Cage Team To Tournament Victory

Bill Belander, a graduate of Monte Vista High School and Grossmont Junior College, was named Most Valuable Player in the Coca-Cola Cossack Basketball Classic held last weekend at California State College, Sonoma.

Belander, a member of the all-Far West Conference team last year as a junior, led the Cal State Sonoma team to two overwhelming victories Friday and Saturday nights and their second tournament win in the two-year old classic.

The Cossacks demolished Cal State Dominguez Hills, 130-74, Friday night, then trounced Cal State University, Humboldt, 102-64, to win the tournament Saturday.

Belander scored 24 points Friday, hitting 10 of 13 shots from the floor and playing outstanding basketball at both ends of the court, and continued his pace Saturday against Humboldt with 20 points and a game-high 17 rebounds.

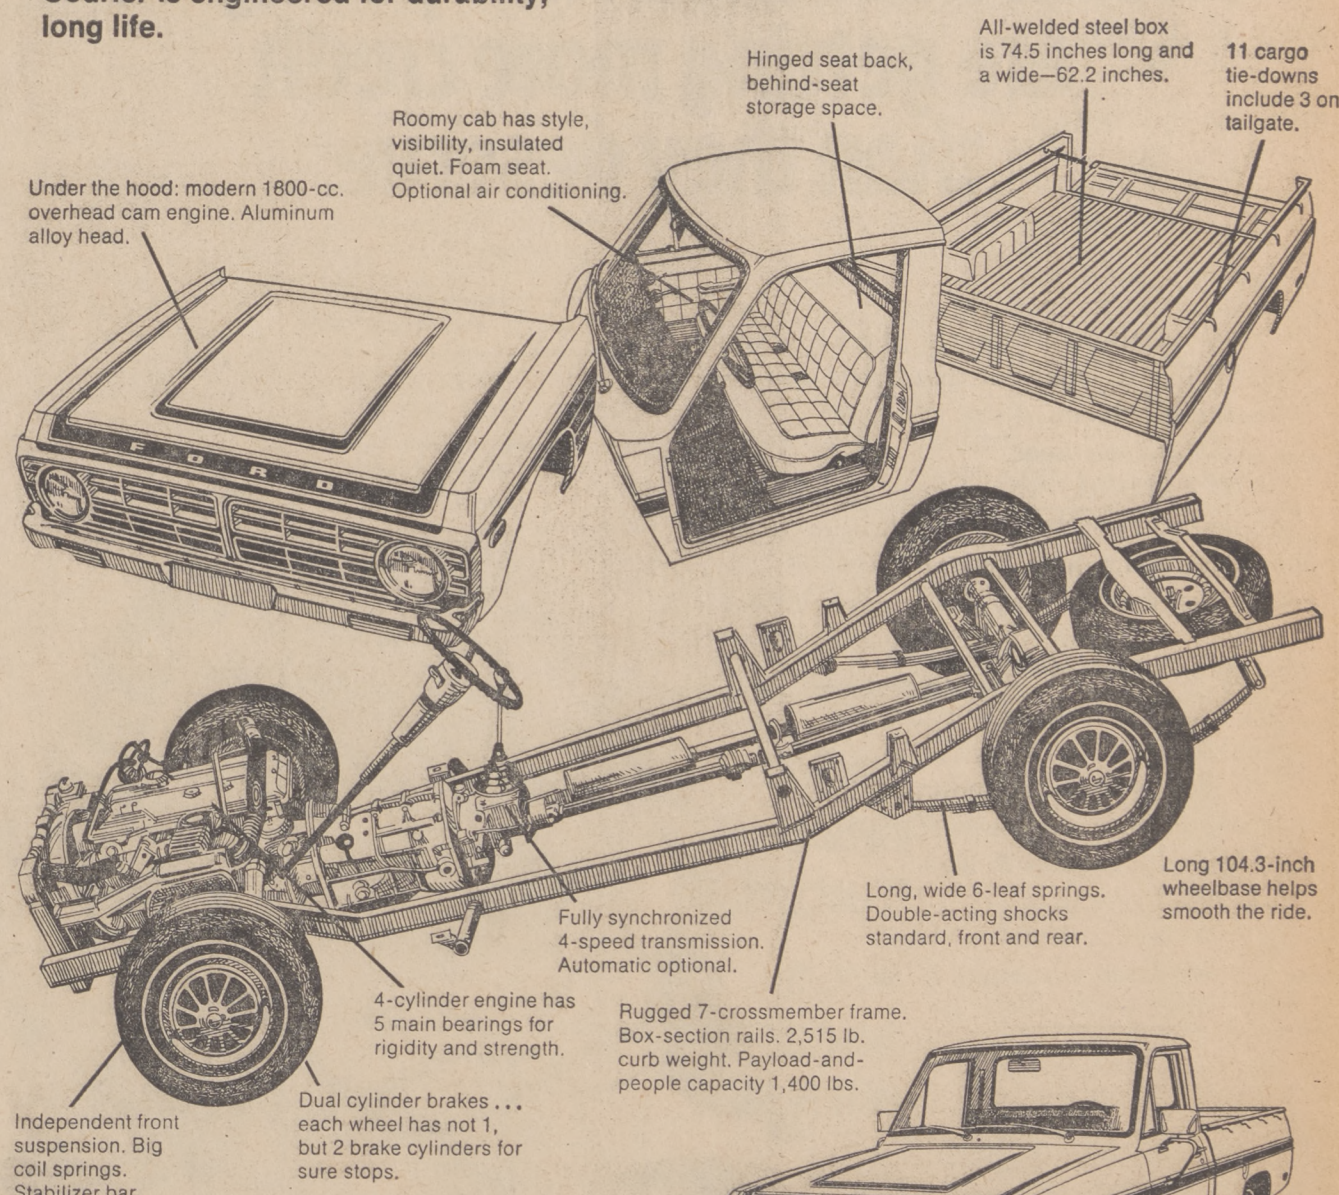

It is a safe bet that the San Diego-born trio of Belander, Bristol, and Heien will make important contributions to any Cossack success in the upcoming road trip.

Matadors Off to 3-1 Mark As Basketball Play Begins

by Bill Ott, Jr.

SPRING VALLEY—1973 was a good year for the Mt. Miguel Matadors on the gridiron. Basketball coach Bob Holm hopes to have a good year as his cagers prepare for Grossmont League play with preseason games. He can be optimistic as his team upped its mark to 3-1 last weekend with two more victories.

After opening the 1973 campaign with a win over the Chula Vista Spartans, the Matadors suffered their first defeat of the young season, a two-point loss to University to even their mark at 1-1. Last weekend they dropped Crawford and Montgomery while showing improvement on the court as the young season progresses toward league play.

Last Friday night the Matadors hosted Crawford and dropped the Colts, 66-57, behind the fine play of Dale Hoffman. The 6-6 senior tallied 19 points, nabbed 17 rebounds and blocked four shots for the night.

PLC Games Set

With a 2-2 record, the Point Loma Crusaders basketball team prepare to take on highly ranked Whittier and out-of-state Southern Utah State. The Crusaders recovered from a 16-point deficit Friday night to escape with an 81-80 victory over Claremont-Mudd College.

Earlier in the week PLC lost to U. of SD, 79-69. The Crusaders outrebounded the Trojans 42-40, but came up short on the free-throw line.

The Matadors got off to a slow start, managing just six points in the first quarter while the Colts tapped the scoreboard for 12. A 29-point burst in the second period gave the Miguel quintet a 35-30 halftime lead, a lead they never surrendered the remainder of the night. Although they managed just 10 points in the third period, the Colts had serious problems, scoring just four points in the third chapter. Crawford outscored the Matadors, 23-21 in the final chapter, but couldn't overcome the second quarter burst staged by the winners.

In addition to Hoffman's 19, Steve Solomon was the only other Matador to hit double figures, finding the hoop for 13 points.

Saturday night eight Matadors got into the scoring column as the Matadors handed the Montgomery Aztecs a 74-68 defeat. Four Matadors got into the double figure column with Jim McPherson's 18 points leading the way. Rubin Ray added 14, Solomon 13, and Jess Jenner 12.

The first quarter of play proved to be decisive in the Miguel win. The Matadors rolled to a 25-11 lead in building a 42-25 halftime margin. Both teams scored 16 points in the third period, but the Aztecs made a last period charge, tallying 27 points in the final stanza while holding the Matadors to 16 in their comeback attempt.

Continuing pre-season play, the Matadors host Hilltop Friday night and begin Kiwanis Tournament play Tuesday.

Slash Seen In State's Road Construction Program, Staff

The California Department of Transportation has announced that reduced revenues because of the energy crisis and reduced federal funding could mean a reduction of up to $250 million in the state's $930 million highway program.

James A. Moe, director of the 17,600-man department, said that it will immediately begin taking steps to reduce its staff by as many as 3,500 positions, with up to 2,000 of those through layoff beginning in May. Essential services required by the motoring public will not be affected.

Moe indicated in an announcement to all employees of the department that a reduction in force of this magnitude would require significant layoffs in addition to expected attrition of employees. Although the exact number to be reduced cannot be determined, employees were told that the range of possible layoffs was between 750 and 2,000.

Country Music Talent Being Sought Here

Two new country music stars—one amateur and one professional—will emerge from this year's Country Star Show which will be held at the Civic Theater on the evening of January 26.

The show will feature the finals of a talent search for new country music artists—both amateur and professional performers who have yet to make it big.

Judging of amateurs will be separate from that of the professional competition.

The talent contest is open to any California amateur or professional. Amateurs must have earned less than $1,000 as a performer or group. It is also open to those in the military based here.

Application blanks can be obtained at western wear stores and many music and record shops throughout San Diego County as well as the KSON Studios or by calling KSON Radio.

There is no charge for entering. The amateur winner of the talent contest receives a recording audition with Capitol Records, and the professional winner receives an audition with Columbia Records.

In addition, both winners will perform on the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tennessee. Every performer or act that enters the contest will be given an audition from January 7 through January 9.

about two-thirds of this would probably come in reductions of contracts for highway construction and the purchase of rights of way.

"There is no doubt that the highway construction program will be affected, and that projects will have to be postponed," said Moe. "Although we do not know at this time which projects will be affected, we have begun a review of our program priorities, tradeoffs between programs, and the identification of additional potential revenue sources."

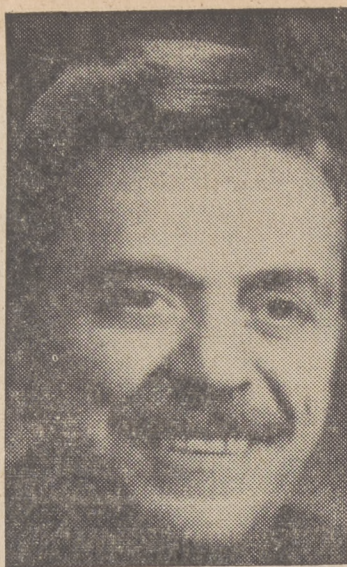

The department derives its income from money granted to the state by the federal government, and from motor vehicle fuel taxes and license taxes levied by the state.

Bargains Galore Spotlighted For COMBO's Finale Saturday

A man dashed up to a rack of clothes, grabbed two mink stoles and rushed to the cashier's table.

A woman pulled a child in a stroller as she steadied a large painting across the hand-diebars.

A young couple gradually selected large pieces of furniture, lamps and appliances and piled them into a secluded corner.

These San Diego shoppers were among the hundreds who last year snapped up bargains and discovered treasures during the one-day combination sale and auction that is usually scheduled one week following COMBO's TV and black-tie dinner auctions.

This year's third COMBO event, called SHOPPER'S COMBO, will be held Saturday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Convention Center of the El Cortez Hotel.

Admission for SHOPPER'S COMBO is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students over 12. COMBO's last event of the season will also be its largest. Over 1,000 items—more than at either of COMBO's recent TV Auction or the COMBO BRAVO dinner auctions—will be sold during the day.

$1 To $1,000 Value
SHOPPER'S COMBO items range in value from $1 to $1,000. All will be sold on a cash and carry basis—those persons who buy items will pay for them and take them home that day. They can be purchased on BankAmericard, Master Charge, or with cash. COMBO, an acronym for Combined Arts and Educational Council of San Diego County, was founded in 1965 to raise supplemental funds for local cultural arts groups. Today the organization sponsors three winter auction events yearly, as well as a spring fundraising drive among corporations and businesses, in addition to seeking governmental and foundation grants for the support of local art groups. Beneficiary organizations which receive funds from COMBO are: The San Diego Symphony, the San Diego Ballet, the San Diego Opera, the Old Globe Theatre, the Civic Light Opera Association (Starlight), the La Jolla Museum of Contemporary Art, Civic Youth Orchestra, Civic Youth Ballet, Young Audiences, Junior Theatre, Toltec on Aztlan and the South east San Diego Community Theatre.

Vets Asked To Answer To Get Full Pensions

More than a million Veterans Administration beneficiaries were mailed a questionnaire with their November pension checks that could mean increases or decreases in their monthly checks for next year. The announcement was made by Director Gordon R. Elliott, of the Los Angeles Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Pensions (unlike VA compensation for service-connected disabilities) are based on income, he explained, and most pension recipients must complete a questionnaire on income each year.

Persons age 72 or over who have been getting VA pensions for the last two years do not have to file if they have not had a change in income.

Elliott explained those who received questionnaires included veteran pensioners, San Diego widows who are receiving pensions based on death of a husband, and parents who are receiving dependency and indemnity compensation (DIC).

Pensioners should complete and return the questionnaire promptly, Elliott advises, even though the deadline for returning them is not until January 15, 1974. He said the reason for this suggestion is that past experience shown many questionnaires are lost, misplaced, forgotten or otherwise delayed if they are not returned promptly.

When this happens, the VA's determination of amounts due pensioners during the year is hampered, since the questionnaire provides information essential for this computation.

If the questionnaires are returned late or not at all, some pensioners may receive later checks, smaller checks, or no checks at all.

Full information on pensions and other VA benefits is available through local VA offices and veterans service organizations.

Sculptors Invited

A maximum of two pieces from each artist may be entered with an entry fee of $5 for each item. The deadline for submitting entries is January 18.

Entry blanks for the exhibition may be obtained by writing to the Department of Three-Dimensional Media at CSUN, 18111 Nordoff st., Northridge 91324; or by calling the 3-D Department at (213) 885-2784.

Color Slide Show Planned

The three shows will be presented twice, at 7 and 8:30 p.m.

Trans-U.S. Bike Trail Proposed

The San Diego area would be an end point in a system of transcontinental bicycle trails proposed this week by a group of congressmen including Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego.

Legislation introduced Monday in the House would order federal agencies to study the possibilities of trails running from San Diego to Olympia, Wash., New Jersey to Oregon and Maine to Florida.

Van Deerlin said that with a gasoline shortage threatening to curtail driving prospects are bright for this plan to upgrade facilities for long-distance bicycling. The bill was drafted by Rep. Ralph S. Regula, R-Ohio.

The San Diego trail would follow U.S. 101 from Washington state, passing through Seattle, Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Van Deerlin said separate pathways could be constructed or existing roads used, depending on local conditions.

Maritime Group Picks President

The San Diego Maritime Museum Association elected Roy Drew as president of their Board of Directors, to succeed Robert Sharp, at the association's annual meeting aboard the ferryboat Berkeley.

Drew, a partner in the architectural firm of Mosher/Drew/Watson Associates of La Jolla, is active in numerous professional and civic organizations. Among them are San Diegans, Inc. and the Scripps Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees. He is on the exhibit committee of the San Diego Zoo and he was a director of the Maritime Museum Association until his recent election as board president.

Also elected for one year terms at the annual meeting were Captain Carl Bowman as first vice president, Ward Waddell as second vice president, Kenneth Baker as treasurer and Mrs. Worth Martin as secretary.

Writers Seminar

Creative writers should plan to attend a four-week seminar on Friday mornings, January 11 through February 1, 1974, from 9:30 to noon. Editorial consultant and writing instructor, Virginia Webb Langdon, will conduct the free workshops at the La Mesa Library, 8055 University Avenue. Both experienced and novice writers are urged to bring any manuscripts, ideas or queries for discussion, advice and inspiration. To register call or visit the La Mesa Library during open hours, Monday through Friday 10:00 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. and Saturday 9:00 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Trash Fires

The Lemon Grove Fire Department, for the week of Dec. 3-10, answered two fire calls and one first aid call.

The fire calls were to trash flareups, with no damage reported. The first aid call was on Dec. 6, at 1:31 p.m., to 3551 West. Vivian Arneson, 55, had fallen and was unable to rise. She had to be assisted back to her feet.

You and Your Pet

(Editor's Note: With today's edition, a column concerning your pet is presented as a continuing weekly feature. We hope pet lovers in our area will enjoy the advice given by the manager of veterinary services for Norden Laboratories, a Philadelphia concern specializing in pet health products.)

By Raymond A. Minor, D.V.M.

Hairballs are an ever-present condition that may develop as your cat begins to shed. Shedding is a continuous process that makes way for the new coat. When it begins, your cat's old hair becomes loosened. This makes the cat irritable and uncomfortable. Instinctively it tries to rid its body of the loose hairs.

In your home you may see your cat rub along the carpet or sofa. If it becomes irritated out of doors, you may see it rolling in the grass. It will lick its forefeet and use them to rub its face and body—performing what resembles face washing. Frequently your cat will use its tongue to get rid of loose hairs.

This process appears to be harmless. But, beware! — it may be ingesting a considerable amount of the loosened hair.

Once in the stomach and intestines, these hairs join into mats and ropes. The mats and ropes cause retching, coughing and vomiting, and they can develop to the extent of interfering with elimination. In severe cases they may even cause death.

If you suspect the presence of hairballs, a check with your veterinarian is the safest approach.

If a home remedy is indicated, there are several things that you can do:

Give a teaspoonful of olive oil or mineral oil every week or so while the shedding is evident.

If your cat objects to medication administered in this way, drop the oil on a favorite food like sardines or minced shrimp.

A small amount of margarine or butter on the cat's tongue may also help.

When administering any home remedy to relieve cat hairball obstruction, avoid strong purgatives like castor oil. They can trigger other intestinal disorders.

Regular grooming, beginning at about five months of age, can forestall hairball formation. Avoid the use of a steel comb at the early stage—it may frighten the kitten. Instead, wrap a soft, dampened cloth around your hand and rub the entire body in the direction of the hair growth. Then brush the coat until the hair is dry.

This method of grooming your kitten will condition it for the more harsh strokes that are sometimes necessary to rid its coat of mats and tangles.

Dr. Minor regrets that he is unable to personally answer letters from pet owners. He suggests that readers consult their own veterinarians when their pets have problems.

Lung Research Funded

Disability due to chronic obstructive lung disease is a major problem in the United States today. Now, local Christmas Seal dollars are being enlisted in a research project that hopefully will clear up some of the enigma surrounding crippling lung disorders.

A $4,000 grant has been awarded to Dr. John E. Hodgkin, Assistant Professor of Medicine at the Loma Linda University Medical Center, to get information which will help in better understanding the cause of cardiopulmonary dysfunction in patients with chronic obstructive lung disease. Mrs. Ellen Abbott, R.N., President of the Lung Association of San Diego and Imperial Counties announced the funding of the project.

Local Church to Honor Wounded Veterans Sunday

The Church of Christ at 2525 Imperial ave., Lemon Grove, plans to honor American wounded Veterans Sunday during its Sunday Worship Hour at 10:45 a.m.

Lloyd White, a veteran himself, seeing the possibility that some hospitalized veterans might be forgotten this first holiday season without war in 12 years, organized the membership to bring a number of such veterans to the morning worship as honored guests and to a dinner following in the fellowship hall.

Don Kern, the local minister will speak on the subject "Honor To Whom Honor". Each veteran will be introduced and church goers will have an opportunity to meet them during the dinner hour.

The community is invited to share in the day of special recognition.

Lutherans Set Single Service

Members of Lemon Grove Lutheran Church will worship at just one service Sunday, Dec. 16, at 9:30 a.m., according to Rev. Herbert Johnson, pastor.

The children and youth of the church will lead the Christmas service of songs and scripture and Rev. Johnson will give a "mini-mess-age."

Because of the single service, there will be no regular Sunday School classes that day.

"We hope that the entire membership of the church will join in helping to celebrate the coming of our Lord at Christmas in this one big service," Rev. Johnson said.

Marshals Aid In Marijuana 'Bust'

Two San Diego deputy marshals, seeking a suspect on a warrant from Los Angeles County, were responsible for the arrest last week of a Lemon Grove man on charges of possession of marijuana.

Marshals Budd Johnson and Gordon B. Tornberg went to 1910 Madera st., on information a suspect they wanted was held 1:30 p.m. today, in Room there, but turned up two lids of marijuana in the possession of Lyle Robert Kitson, 25, a resident of the house, they said.

The marshals called Deputy Sheriff Dave Pugh of the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station who arrested Kitson.

Intruder Flees

Nancy Louise Shepherd, an 18-year-old Grossmont College participant, said Bruce Warcoed, reported she was awakened at 2:30 Tuesday morning by strange noises, and found a man prowling her residence at 7348 Pearson, Vista La Mesa.

Controlled Trends, Latest CPO Offering, Presented

"Controlled Trends", the third of four Regional Development Alternatives being evaluated by the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO), was presented to the CPO Board of Directors Friday at a specially scheduled meeting in San Diego.

In reporting to the Board, Richard J. Huff, CPO's Executive Director, explained that "... Controlled Trends is an attempt to see to what extent a greater balance of population and employment can be achieved in all of the San Diego region's existing communities ... and in those newly developing."

As with the two development alternatives previously considered by CPO's Board (Existing Trends, and Radial Corridors), Controlled Trends is based on Land Use-Transportation demands projected to 1995. Further, it assumes a moderate population growth to 2.4 million residents for the San Diego County region during that same period.

According to Huff, "Controlled Trends policies would encourage more self-contained communities, providing greater opportunity for more people to live and work in the same community. This would help minimize the burden on public transportation systems that would accompany projected future growth."

Four specific assumptions were made by CPO's staff in evaluating this alternative:

Accommodation of new population growth would occur primarily within the existing urbanized areas, supported by community-scale employment centers within the predominantly residential areas;

Growth in the newly urbanizing areas would occur in balanced communities, each with an adequate range of housing, cultural and employment opportunities;

A total balanced transportation system would be provided, comprised of a "family" of transportation facilities to serve current and future travel needs;

Fixed guideway and high level bus transit systems would be provided for improved accessibility and to minimize increased highway congestion.

The seven-page staff report ("Major Conclusions, The Controlled Trends Alternative" — Dec. 3, 1973) deals with the three broad areas: population growth and land development, the environment, and transportation and transit.

The concept foresees region-wide transit service provided by a "light rail", fixed guideway, manually (vs. automated) operated transit system in the San Diego metropolitan area. It would be supplemented by an expanded express bus network serving the northern part of the region and connecting to the light rail system and Centre City San Diego.

A more extensive local, feeder bus network would be provided than in the other alternatives considered to date by CPO's Board.

Zoning Law Workshop Set

The County of San Diego zoning ordinance will be the subject of a workshop to be held 1:30 p.m. today, in Room 451 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Hwy. This public meeting is the first step towards revising the zoning ordinance. Before the actual revision project gets underway next year, a detailed work program must be presented.

"Hopefully, major problems and issues will be identified with the help of workshop participants," said Bruce Warcoed, County Planning Director. "The County Zoning Ordinance has been amended on a piecemeal basis for years and there has not been a complete overhaul since 1954."

Group Seeks San Diego Land For Lemon Grove Park

Property just within San Diego City limits will become part of the Lemon Grove park system if the Broadway Heights Community Council's recommendation is followed.

Mrs. Verna Quinn, spokesman for the Council said this week that the 17.93 acres of land bounded roughly by San Miguel on the north; 69th st. on the east; Mallard on the south and Laconia on the west would be part of the park initiative to be voted on next year if a public hearing indicated enough interest in the amalgamation.

The other park parcel is 5.5 acres at Berry and Mt. Vernon which is altogether in the Lemon Grove community. The 17.93 acre piece is mostly in the City of San Diego although the area is bounded on the north and east by Lemon Grove.

Mrs. Quinn said it would cost district taxpayers about $20 a year for five years if approved. Originally, 250 units were planned for the site. Then 205, which was later said.

would be a little more than $5 a year. Tax dollars would pay $175,000 for the 17.93 acre site.

The Berry st. park alone would cost property owners about $9.75 a year for 5 years, she said. The cost would then drop to about $4.

According to Mrs. Quinn who lives in the area at 6708 Charlene ave., San Diego, the 17.93-acre site is one of the few parcels of usable land left near Lemon Grove. A survey made in 1971 showed 439 acres of undeveloped land left. It is estimated that about half of this has been developed since the survey was taken.

Annexed in 1971
The 17.93-acre site was in Lemon Grove until 1971 when it was annexed to San Diego by the developer in order to acquire sewers. The sewer problem still exists, according to Mrs. Quinn, because development plans are yet to be approved. Originally, 250 units were planned for the site. Then 205, which was later said.

changed to 158. The last proposal was for 128 units but lack of school facilities brought about a re-study of the request—and that's where it stands now, according to Mrs. Quinn.

The acreage is appropriate as a park because it is the only site affording a view of downtown San Diego and Coronado, Mrs. Quinn says. That would make it an unusually attractive park site, she added.

To help interested persons decide on the issue, the Broadway Heights Community Council is holding a public meeting at San Miguel school Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The next day the County Board of Supervisors will conduct a hearing on the park matter.

At the Tuesday meeting, Peter Detviller, assistant executive officer of the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) will be present to answer questions concerning the park issue, Mrs. Quinn said.

Burglars Invade SV Market, Take Over $700 In Sunday Night Theft

Twelve more burglaries were reported during the past week to the Lemon Grove Sheriff's Station, including one in which thieves took over $700 from a Spring Valley market.

G & M Market, at 8903 Jamacha rd., was burglarized sometime Sunday night by intruders who ripped open his back door with tin snips and a power saw, owner George Najor reported.

Najor said his clerk closed the store Sunday at 6 p.m., leaving the day's receipts in an open cash register. The thieves took $578 in bills and connecting to the light $150 in coin, but left behind a roll of dimes and a roll of pennies, he reported.

Her front door was forced so strongly that the safety chain was pulled loose, Marcela K. Stratton of 3700 Helix st., Spring Valley, told deputies. Two television sets de-worth $330 are missing, she said.

The incident happened Monday between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. while she was shopping, she reported.

Her son Brian's coin collection was reported missing by Billie Edna Figge, of 1574 La Corta, Lemon Grove. She said the collection, valued at $150, turned up missing sometime between December 2 and December 8, when she reported it to the sheriff's office.

B. E. Dickerson, of 462 Grand ave., Apt. C, Spring Valley, told deputies that $615 was stolen from his house while he was gone Saturday the weekend. Childers is moving into the Dupont street place, and the theft occurred while he was in the process, he said. The burglars pried open a rear bedroom window to gain entrance, the report said.

Intruders at the Lucile Alice Rosset home, 1914 El Prador, Lemon Grove, were determined to gain entry.

mined to make a clean sweep when they invaded the house. In addition to two eight-track tape players worth $50 each, a $100 table lamp and some clothes, the burglars also took her pet six-month old white Persian cat, which was valued at $75. The break-in occurred Saturday between 1:30 and 4 p.m. while she was shopping, she said.

Robert L. Childers, 1636 Dupont, Lemon Grove, told deputies stereo equipment worth $615 was stolen from his house while he was gone over the weekend. Childers is moving into the Dupont street place, and the theft occurred while he was in the process, he said. The burglars pried open a rear bedroom window to gain entrance, the report said.

Norma Weber, 1622 Woodrow ave., Lemon Grove, reported the loss in January, 1973, of a $72.50 electric grinder from her garage. Her insurance company advised her to make the report, she said.

The sum of $285 was taken from rent receipts she had collected, Constance M. Frederick, 1228 Presiocta st., Spring Valley, said. The money was taken from an envelope kept in her manager's apartment sometime last week, she reported.

Sherry D. Kennedy, of 8822 Del Rose st., Spring Valley, reported her home had been burglarized for the third time in just more than a year. Each time, thieves emptied piggy banks in which she kept coin collections, she told deputies. She had gone to the store, she said, and was absent about 20 minutes when the latest theft occurred in broad daylight. She said that a male juvenile ran from the house as she returned, and that he had entered through an unlocked sliding door. The other burglaries occurred in April, 1973, and November, 1972, she said.

B & J Automotive, at 1503 1/2 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove, was entered last Wednesday night by thieves who took $45 worth of auto parts, it was reported.

Friday, Thomas V. Ferguson reported that while he was away from his home, Route 1, Box 2H Jamul, last weekend, someone broke into his garage and stole wrenches and a chain saw worth $225.

John R. Berry, Star Route, Box 60, Spring Valley, said his wife's topaz and diamond ring, worth $75 was missing last Saturday after she took it off Friday night while washing dishes.

Mills 'Salute' Attracts 500

About 500 persons attended a political dinner for State Senator Jim Mills Saturday at Hotel del Coronado as a "Salute to Senate President pro Tempore James R. Mills." Mills is a Democrat.

Speaker at the affair was U.S. Senator Vance Hartke (D-Ind.).

Senator Mills' district will include Lemon Grove. Spring Valley and part of Casa de Oro when redistricting starts late next year.

A year ago the district was Clair Burgener's—until he ran for U.S. Congress—and won. His post was won by Assemblyman Big John Stull and Stull's post was won by Supervisor Bill Craven.

Mills will run for his re-districted office in next year's June primary. His new district, provided he is successful, will include Coronado, S. Bay, all of downtown San Diego, Lemon Grove, Spring Valley and an undetermined part of Casa de Oro, a spokesman for Mills said.

So far, no one has indicated that he will compete with Mills.

Both have won honors in various Southland parades, including a fourth in mace at the Long Beach parade and a third place at Santa Monica.

"We didn't get any trophies at Arcadia," Bob said, "but both times—when I led and when Alan led—we managed to get the band to step off late."

Bob's direction in life is planned. He is now a music major at San Diego State, and hopes, after his 1975 graduation, to become a high school band director. Alan's future is not so nicely ordered, but there is a feeling that he, too, may take the same route as his older brother.

Bob started out as a clarinet player in the fifth grade, but has since switched to the bassoon. Alan specializes in brass—trumpet, trombone and baritone.

Alan has one distinction Bob cannot claim. He led the band and took first in this year's Poway parade. Bob placed second before his Mt. Miguel senior year in the Southland Drum Major Camp, and has been teaching mace since his freshman year summer break at State.

Alan was fourth at the Santa Barbara drum major camp this season, in competition with more than 200 drum majors from all over California.

To complete the similarities, both have bad backs. Bob injured his jumping on a tram poline, but Alan doesn't know where or how his was hurt.
